

PRIMARY CARE STEPPING STONES TRIPLE P

WHAT IS PRIMARY CARE STEPPING STONES TRIPLE P?

Stepping Stones Triple P has been developed for parents of children with a disability. Primary Care Stepping Stones Triple P involves a brief one-to-one parenting intervention designed to target discrete problem behaviors or developmental skills (e.g. social skills, communication). Primary Care Stepping Stones Triple P has been evaluated with families of children with a range of disabilities (e.g. intellectual disability, autism spectrum disorders, cerebral palsy) and elevated levels of disruptive behavior. Sessions are between 15-30 minutes. The first two sessions are conducted in person and the other sessions can be completed either in person or by telephone. The practitioner meets with the parent/s for up to four sessions over a period of six weeks and assists parents to develop parenting plans (behavior support plans) to prevent the problem behavior, teach needed skills, and manage misbehavior.

WHO IS IT FOR?

Parents or caregivers of children with a disability (up to 12-years) with a specific concern about their child's behavior and require one-to-one consultation with active skills training. These parents may be unable to commit to regular treatment over longer periods of time. They are most likely to benefit if their child's behavioral issues are not complicated by high levels of family stress. Some parents choose to do this program as an introduction to parenting strategies and then may become interested in the more intensive Group Stepping Stones Triple P for further support.

WHAT IS COVERED IN SESSIONS WITH PARENTS?

Session 1: Assessment of the presenting problem

In this session, the practitioner conducts an initial interview, discusses options for intervention, and how the parent can keep track of their child's behavior.

Session 2: Developing a parenting plan

In this session, the practitioner provides the parent with feedback of assessment results and discusses causes of child behavior problems. Parents then set goals for themselves and their child. They are introduced to booklets that provide information on a range of topics (e.g. social skills, early learning skills, disruptive behavior, toileting). An individualized parenting plan is devised based on this format and content.

Session 3: Review of implementation

In this session, practitioners apply a self-regulatory feedback model to help the parent review how they have implemented their plan, to identify strengths and improvements, and to refine their use of specific strategies that may require further practice. Obstacles to the implementation of their plan are discussed and problem-solved.

Session 4: Follow up

In this session, the practitioner reviews progress toward specific goals, assists the parent to further refine their parenting plan if needed, and discusses ideas to maintain positive changes. If necessary, referral options are discussed.

HOW MUCH TIME IS NEEDED TO DELIVER THE INTERVENTION?

In addition to each session, the practitioner should allow time for preparing for the sessions and supervision. Please see the table below for an approximate delivery guideline time for each family.

CONSULTATION TIME	2 hours (30 minutes per family for 4 sessions)
